BLEASE TALKED ABOUT THE ROLLS

Urged the People To Get Their Names on Club Rolls In Time For Democratic Primaries

Upon invitation of friends, Gov. Blease yesterday agreed to make two speeches in the city last night, one being in the Riverside-Toxaway mill village and the other in the Anderson mill village. The first speech was scheduled for 7 o'clock at Riverside, and more than 300 persons gathered to hear what he had to say. He was well received and his utterances were loudly cheered.

The crowd in the Anderson mill village was much larger than the crowd he had addressed earlier in the evening, numbering probably 1,000 or more. At the Riverside mill the governor was well received and it was apparent that the crowd was in sympathy with him and was composed of ardent supporters.

The main plea in the governor's address last night was to the voters to see that their names are placed on the club rolls. He explained that the rules adopted at the recent state democratic convention had abolished all former rolls and ordered rolls anew. He advised those who could not write to carry witnesses with them when they go to the secretary to enroll so that there could be no mistake; so that the secretary would be certain to enroll the name properly.

The governor stated that he was confident of victory over Senator Smith and predicted his majority would be 20,000 to 30,000. He declared that if he was defeated, and if the people elected a governor who was not satisfactory to his hearers, that he would enter the race two years hence and would surely "come back."

The governor paid his respects to St. Pearman, referring sarcastically to his days in the legislature, and then he paid special attention to Gen. M. L. Bonham, Leon L. Rice and S. Dean Pearman, for their stands and work during the recent state democratic convention. He did not mince any words, and his utterances, especially at this time, were received with vociferous applause. He touched upon his pardon record in the usual manner.

In conclusion he said that he will return this summer when he is campaigning for United States senator, and he declared he would have something to say that would be really warm. He stated, too, that he understood his opponent had something up his sleeve which promised to be equally as warm. He predicts a highly interesting time.

The last word was in the shape of a warning to his hearers to be sure to get their names on the club rolls "if the secretary should die and cannot get the name on the roll for you, hunt up somebody else, and see that your name is enrolled. It is mighty important—especially after the rules adopted by the state convention."

MELANCHOLY FIND

Remains of a Balloon in Which Aero-Was Lost Five Years Ago. (By Associated Press)

Stockholm, Sweden, May 27.—What is believed to be the remains of the Balloon in which Prof. Salomon A. Andre ascended from Danes Island near Spitzbergen, July 11, 1907, in an attempt to reach the North Pole, have been found in a forest in Eastern Siberia, according to a telegram received today at the Swedish foreign office from Yakutz. The explorer was accompanied by two scientists. After leaving Danes Island no report ever was received from the party.

Although traces of Andre's balloon have been reported at various places from time to time and while even the body of the Swedish Arctic explorer was said to have been discovered in Labrador, nothing ever has been established definitely as to what actually happened to the expedition or what became of the balloon.

Andre and two companions, Strindberg and Franckel, started from Danes Island for the North Pole. The explorer believed the winds would take him into the Polar regions in a week, carry him over the pole and him in North America. Five buoys from the balloon have been picked up at different points and different times.

Many searching expeditions have returned unsuccessful. In January, 1910, dispatches from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, said Bishop Pascal announced he had received letters from a missionary telling of the supposed finding of Andre's balloon by Eskimos near Reindeer Lake, in the Arctic circle 900 miles north of Prince Albert. It has been reported that Andre's body had been found, but none of these statements was substantiated.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL WADE HAMPTON

REUNION OPENS AMID ENTHUSIASM

Splendid Addresses Delivered and Songs Bring Tears To the Eyes of the Veterans

The sessions of the United Confederate Veterans were called to order yesterday morning by Col. Jos. N. Brown, commanding Camp Stephen D. Lee, United Confederate Veterans. He asked that all battle flags be sent to the stand. After this had been done invocation was pronounced by Rev. F. O. S. Curtis, D. D., general chaplain of the state. In his beautiful prayer he expressed this beautiful sentiment: "When thou shalt call us one after another to cross over the river and rest under the shade of the trees, may we all have the countersign 'That the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin'."

The choir then sang "I've Gwine Back to Dixie" and the old soldiers cheered. Mayor Lee G. Holleman in a hearty manner and in a brief but well put speech welcomed the old soldiers to Anderson. This city, he said, is highly honored. He hoped the stay of the old soldiers would be pleasant and the city officials would do everything to make the old soldiers have a good time, and just to insure their happiness he was going to appoint Gen. C. A. Reed mayor for the next two days.

Dr. R. F. Dwyer then eloquently welcomed the old soldiers on behalf of the Daughters of the Confederacy. "You represent," said he, "a fragment of the grandest army that ever trod God's green earth. Our children want to hear of Lee and Jackson and Longstreet and those other great men and we must teach them. He extended a hearty welcome and said "Boys, the city is yours, you don't have to take it." After the cheering had subsided, one old soldier wanted to know if Dr. Dwyer included the pretty girls in his offer of welcome to the city. This made quite a laugh.

The choir then sang "My Old Kentucky Home."

On behalf of the Sons of Veterans Gen. M. L. Bonham addressed the visitors. He declared that the decoration of the Legion of Honor, the Black Eagle of Prussia and the Victoria Cross are sought after, but the noblest decoration in all the world is the simple bronze cross of the Confederate soldier. It means much, and the time is coming when so few will be here to wear it. Gen. Bonham exhorted the Sons of Veterans for not having a more active organization and doing more to make the last days of the old soldiers happy. He wished a greater usefulness for the organization. This was followed by a duet by Mrs. R. S. Ligon and Thos. Allen. Responses to the address were made by Mr. W. A. Clark of Columbia, Professor A. Bonham of Greenville and Col. A. L. Gaston of Chester. Gen. Teague in being given the gavel made a happy little talk.

The orator of the day was Gen. West of Georgia, who at times thrilled the audience. His splendid speech in the audience. His splendid speech in

A WHOLESOME LYNCHING BEE IS IN STORE FOR THE MILITANTS

New York, May 27.—England has stood all it can from the militant suffragettes, declared Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, British novelist, upon his arrival here today. He added that he anticipated a wholesome lynching bee. "The British government," he said, "follows public opinion and thus public opinion has not demanded the entire suppression of the suffragettes. But it is on the point of doing so, and when the English mob is thoroughly aroused, it is not a respecter of sex."

When Sir Arthur was informed that no general uprising had followed the recent passage of the home rule bill, he said:

"If anything further does happen, it will be so serious as to amount practically to civil war. The men of Ulster will never give in to the idea of an Irish parliament."

Sir Arthur was accompanied by Lady Doyle. They came on the White Star liner Olympic.

Large Pension Fund Demanded By U. C. V.

At the business session of the confederate veterans, which was held in the tent at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the committee appointed at the Alken reunion to secure an appropriation from the general assembly of the State for the erection of a monument at Blanford, Church, near Petersburg, Va., carrying the names of the South Carolina soldiers killed and wounded at the battle of the Crater, reported that an appropriation of $500 had been secured.

A commission consisting of the Gen. B. H. Teague, Col. W. H. Edwards and the Hon. W. A. Clark was appointed to select and have erected the monument. This commission will also secure the name to be inscribed on the monument. The matter of pensions for the old soldiers, and their widows came in for lengthy discussion. The division decided to memorialize the general assembly to increase the maximum appropriation for pensions from $250, 000 to $400,000. It also decided to put all the worn out soldiers in class A. The pensions for widows will remain the same.

The arrangements for the grand reunions in the past came in for pretty severe criticism. The delegates have not been properly provided for, and the reunions, especially the arrangement pertaining to them, have been of little effect and benefit. The division adopted a resolution authorizing three of the officers of the division to go to Richmond in advance of the grand reunion of 1915 and make necessary arrangements for the South Carolina delegates. This committee will prepare for the welfare and comfort of those attending the reunion from this state.

The proposition of changing the classes of the pension come up for general discussion, but a motion to adjourn prevailed, and action was deferred until tomorrow.

every one. He enthused the audience repeatedly, despite the wiling heat of the day.

At the conclusion of his address Rev. J. W. Speake of this city was presented and in a beautiful little talk which touched the audience, he presented to Gen. West a beautiful bouquet of flowers from the Chamber of Commerce of the city of Anderson on this Gen. West's birthday.

After another song, Gov. Blease was presented. He made a capital short speech, and it was well received. He praised Mr. W. A. Clark for his generous action last year in advancing money for the old soldiers to go to Gettysburg and criticized very severely the action of the legislature toward the old soldier's home in Columbia. He concluded with a criticism of the loose manner in which the pension money is divided and urged the old soldiers to spot out and eliminate unworthy persons from getting pensions.

Pretty Window Much Admired

One of the most attractive window displays to be seen in the city, is the one shown by Parker & Bolt one of Anderson's progressive clothing stores. Some valuable and interesting relics are shown, among them being the coat worn by Capt. Prue Benson, who was captain of the Palmetto Rifles during the war. Also a saddle that was used during the war by A. Wash McGee. Numerous other relics are on display also some excellent photographs of prominent officers.

NO REGENIS

Baltimore, May 27.—The American Medico-psychological Association at its annual convention here today refused to go on record as favoring eugenic marriage laws. Resolutions recommending the segregation of the feeble minded, imbeciles or other mental delinquents and the demand of separate institutions for their care was adopted. Dr. S. E. Smith, of Richmond, Va., was elected president of the association.

Garden Hose That's Good

Rubber Hose isn't a good thing to experiment with. It requires more than good optics to tell the difference between the kind that's of cast-off rubber boots and the brands that have good stuff in them. We have found out all that by experience and you may depend on the Hose you buy of us as being the best the price will buy.

We have this Hose in several grades—eight cents per foot and higher. We offer you the best values it is possible to procure.

Reunion Notes

On of the interesting visitors here for the reunion is James Simpson of Clinton. Mr. Simpson served with distinction throughout the war and was a good soldier. One striking feature about him is his beard, which extends far below his waist and attention of all passers-by is attracted when they see him.

A number of the veterans living in nearby towns, seeing the crowded condition, left Anderson last night for their homes but they shouted from the cars as the trains pulled out of the city that they would be back this morning bright and early and ready to take part in the exercises of the day.

The veterans were well pleased with everything yesterday morning when the first session was concluded. One veteran remarked that Lee Holleman was the most sensible man he ever saw because he wasn't crazy enough to talk all day. Mr. Holleman's address of welcome to the veterans was very brief but it "hit the spot." He told them that the town was theirs and they could have anything they wanted and if they wanted something and didn't see it to yell for it and they would get it.

Belton was well represented yesterday at the reunion and it is said that an even larger number of Belton people will be in the city today. Among those visitors from the sister city here yesterday were: J. P. Cox, Sr., J. K. Clement, Fleet Chalkscales, J. J. Vaughn, J. E. Horton. A number of Belton's Sons of Veterans were also here among them being: A. S. Fant, J. Clyde Green, J. A. Cox, John A.

Horton and E. R. Parker.

E. W. Lee of Pelzer, a member of Camp Kerzhaw, United Confederate Veterans, is among the visitors in the city. Mr. Lee was a member of Co. E, Orr's Regiment, during the war and he did valiant service. He was accompanied on the visit to Anderson yesterday by his grandson, W. A. Reeves of Birmingham. Mr. Reeves has been with his grandparents in Pelzer for the past fortnight and is now enroute to his home in Alabama.

The veterans have discovered no single thing since they reached the city about which they can become displeased and they all say that they like Anderson. One Columbia veteran remarked yesterday that he had never been able to understand why Anderson people were so fond of calling Anderson "My Town" but he believes now that he, too, has the habit.

There is practically no part of the state without representatives here for the two days. There are only two or three counties in all South Carolina without delegates and the people of Anderson have a right to feel complimented yesterday that he had never been able to understand why Anderson people were so fond of calling Anderson "My Town" but he believes now that he, too, has the habit.

The parade of this afternoon will be an affecting sight and people from all sections of the country will be here to see it. It will be a delight to the old soldiers to see veterans in line and with the band music, the pretty sponsors and beautiful make-up, and together with Anderson's contribution to the parade will make a decided impression.
